March 2014

Spring Cleaning for My Soul

March is a month I normally associate with spring cleaning. The seasons are changing, we are digging all the summer clothes out of the closets and hoping they still fit. We are looking through things to try and figure out what we will have to buy for the girls to get them ready for warmer weather. We are trying to clean and dust our house. We are trying to clean our yard, and prepare for the changes ahead. It is a time of transition, cleaning, and renewal. The flowers begin to bloom, and people with more talent than me start to plant gardens. Do we ever pause to think about our souls and spiritual life during this time of outward renewal and cleansing?

Psalms 51 does a wonderful job of capturing the need for inward cleansing and renewal of spirit. The psalmist writes “cleanse me with hyssop, and I shall be clean: was me, and I shall be whiter than snow”, he continues and cries out “create in me a pure heart, o God, and renew a steadfast spirit within me. Restore unto me the joy of thy salvation; and uphold me with a willing spirit.” As we enter spring, I encourage you to take a few moments and ask God to cleanse your heart. Are there things that have crept in that do not belong? Do you have any baggage or old spiritual trash you need to throw away? Have things taken away the joy of God’s salvation in your life? I offer you this prayer based on psalm 51,

Lord, Create in us clean hearts, Renew your spirit within us. Do not turn us away from your presence, do not take your holy spirit from us. Restore to us the joy of your salvation, and sustain in us a willing spirit. Write on our hearts, your love O God, Amen.

God Speed
